Dear Tang Yingzhong:

The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) has reviewed your request accepted January 8, 2020. This request was for extensions of approvals TC-84A-7861 and TC-84A-7862 to add private label versions of Suzhou Fangtian N95 air-purifying filtering facepiece respirators to ARMOR S.C.C. of Ecuador. The approval numbers, Suzhou Fangtian respirator model numbers, assembly matrix file names and ARMOR S.C.C. private-label model numbers are shown in the following table:

Approval Number Suzhou Fangtian Model	Assembly Matrix File Name	ARMOR S.C.C. Model
TC-84A-7861 Model: FT-N040	FT-N040 AMd.xls Revision D, Dated: 12-18-2019	1040
TC-84A-7862 Model: FT-N041	FT-N041 AMc.xls Revision C, Dated: 12-18-2019	1041

This request is granted. Extension of approvals are granted only for documentation written in the English language. It is the manufacturer's responsibility to correctly translate materials desired to be produced in languages other than English.

The final respirator approval labels are included as attachments to this letter. The abbreviated labels have been accepted as submitted. The cautions and limitations which apply to these approvals are on the approval label. Only those assemblies affected by this request, or where new approval numbers are assigned, apply to this approval action. Production approval labels cannot include information on unapproved configurations.

The manufacturer is responsible for properly packaging, labeling, and controlling the respirators produced under these private label approvals. At a minimum, the items that must be controlled are the approved user instructions, all approval labeling, all approved packaging, use claims, marketing materials, and the respirator design and construction details. Any change to these NIOSH-approved respirators or approval documentation without prior notification and approval is a violation of this approval and renders this certification as invalid.

No changes may be made to any respirators and accompanying documentation without prior written approval of NIOSH. Requests for changes must be submitted to NIOSH and a modification of this approval must be granted before changes are made.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Peterson
